

63 WAYS OF BUILD- ING A ROAD

The State of Illinois, with the co-operation of the Bureau of Public Roads of the Federal Government, has built a piece of road two miles long which includes sixty-three different sections representing as many different methods and kinds of construction having various thicknesses of concrete, cement grout and asphalt filled brick as well as asphalt concrete and concrete with rolled stone bases. The construction of this piece of road was completed in April, 1921, since which time a corps of engineers has been engaged in making observations for effect of temperature changes, static and repeated loads and subgrade conditions. And now a fleet of ten motor trucks received by the State from the surplus of the War Department are to be operated over the road in testing it out. At first they will be lightly loaded, but as the test progresses, the load will be increased until a maximum is reached giving a 12,000 pound rear wheel load. The Agricultural Department in Washington in a statement regarding the experiments says that the results will show definitely the types of pavements which can be expected to support heavy traffic, as well as those which will not satisfy the requirements of such traffic conditions as might be expected during the next ten or twenty years.

On Friday evening Clifford Belding will represent Wauson Hi in the Oratorical Contest at A. E. All the schools of Fulton County will be represented here and Wauson needs first place. For every point is needed to win the contest. The subject of this oration is "A Timely Tribute."

The final contest held at Delta on April 14th will close the contest for 1921. Wauson will be represented in debate, piano solo and discussion. If Wauson wins all of these she will bring home the banner.

The banner of 1921 now hangs in the assembly and it is the hope of all that when we come back to school on April 17th, a new one will be there to greet us.

ROAD MAINTENANCE PROGRAM

Over $100,000.00 To Be Invested In Fulton County Highways

Both the State and Fulton County Highway Departments will institute one of the most extensive repair and reconstruction programs in Fulton County the coming season that has ever been experienced.

The state department in addition to the new road work on the "Ryan-Wauson Road" and the "Archbold-Fayette Route" and the Shoop Avenue Improvement on the Toledo-Wauson Road on which $153,000.00 has been certified to the County for the payment of the State's share of the cost of the improvements, the department will spend approximately $75,000.00 for the maintenance and reconstruction of 47.5 miles of State Highways in the county.

Under drainage of the subgrades in places where open ditch drainage has been difficult to maintain, which seems to be the key to success in highway construction, will be carried out extensively.

Weekly inspection of road surfaces will be made. The development of pits and other surface defects will be immediately repaired by the states' maintenance forces under the supervision of Superintendent of Highways, Chas. Garmus, Section "C", Archbold-Fayette Road, a mile of macadam directly south of the Village of Fayette, which, owing to faulty construction has been a source of continuous expense and a burden to the department to properly maintain the surface, will be widened two feet and an eight inch course of stone added.

The cost of the improvement will be approximately $12,000.00. Several miles of state system will be given a surface treatment of Tar cover with gravel or stone.

The County Commissioners under the direction of County Surveyor Beach will invest about $60,000.00 in road repair and reconstruction.

Thirty and sixty-five hundreds miles of macadam road surfaces will be surfaced treated at an estimated cost of $365,471.

As competition in highway construction and repair work this season is very keen, and work bid for at a price less than what it appears that it could be done for by force account, the job will be let by competitive sealed bidding to the lowest and most responsible bidder. The period of application of the treatment, as last year, will be between June 15th and August 15th, when road surfaces are thoroughly dried out.

In addition to the resurfacing of 2.5 miles of gravel road on the Lyons-Winamag Road and two miles on the German-Clinton Township line north of Pettisville six inches of gravel at an estimated cost of $4,000.00 the balance of the repair fund will be used in the reconstruction of County Improvement No. 47, two miles of macadam road northwest of Fayette.

The two mile section of the county system was badly torn up during the construction of the ten mile of the Fayette-Hudson Road last season. The road is to be widened and six and eight inch courses of stone added to the eight inch base, and then surfaced treated again.

The completion of the Hudson-Fayette road by the State of Michigan this season, with the reconstruction of the two miles in Fulton County will connect the Villages of Fayette and Hudson with an improved road thirteen miles in length.

The opening of the repair work during the months of April and May will consist of grading, paving and drainage corrections almost entirely. Three grading outfits will be kept in continuous operation, grading the county traffic bound stone roads and the gravel road improvements.

It is the intention of the highway officials to have the entire system of highways, both state and county in the best possible condition for traffic by the first of June.

THE INTER- NATIONAL SCENARIO

Every American soldier will be brought home from "Bingen, Sweet Bingen" and other places on the Rhine. There are about 4,000 troops in Europe, and with their return will be a complete end to American military participation in affairs across the Atlantic.

European nations seem to be less reluctant in their attitude towards Russia than the United States. Plans for her reconstruction and exploitation, are being discussed by international experts gathered in London, and by Lenin and all-Russia communist congress at Moscow. Both gatherings are preliminary to the economic conference to be held at Geneva, to which the United States has sent regrets. Europe seems eager to find a basis of cooperation by which Russia can again be brought into the community of nations and her resources of materials and manpower made available to help in repairing the wastages of war.

The debtor European nations are apparently very much excited by the fact that the United States has "put in its claim" for its part of the German reparations payments allocated for the liquidation of the costs of Allied occupation of German territory. The French Premier explains that "just as America is not bound by the Versailles Treaty terms, so the Allies are not bound by the terms of the Berlin treaty." The Allies are rather peeved because the United States has thrown a monkey-wrench into the machinery they arranged for the purpose of dividing the German pot of gold. In the meanwhile there are no new developments concerning the reparations the Allies to the United States of interest or principal of the war debts.

FARM BUREAU MEETING PEOPLES STATE BANK

The regular meeting of the Clinton Township Farm Bureau was held at the Township Hall, Monday evening, March 27th, with the following program:

S. P. Johnson was first introduced and gave a splendid talk on the hatching and rearing of chicks. Some of the important points brought out in Mr. Johnson's talk is as follows:

Heredit is one of the greatest causes for good or poor results.

Eggs for hatching should be carefully selected and should not be held over two weeks before being placed in the incubator. They should be turned twice daily.

Poor fertility is largely due to the individual hens. There may be some hens in the flock whose eggs will not hatch at all.

Mr. Johnson favors a brooder house which is easily cleaned; which has a heating system which is easily controlled. A portable brooder house is preferred because the ground is likely to be infected where chicks are raised on the same ground, year after year. Not more than four chicks should be placed in a brooder house for each square foot of floor space.

The chicks should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected before placing the chicks in it, plenty of feeders should be supplied for the chicks and the inverted type of waterers are desirable.

Chicks used ground limestone or an oyster shell on the floor and covers this with about two inches of alfalfa leaves. Great care should be used to get alfalfa leaves entirely free from mustiness.

Chicks should not be placed in the brooders until forty eight hours after hatching and then Mr. Johnson gives them a drink of water containing just enough potassium permanganate to turn the water red. The second day, alfalfa leaves or rolled oats are fed and after the third day, scratch feed consisting of equal parts of cracked corn and cracked wheat. Sour milk should be fed is available and green feed of sprouted oats or dandelions. Great care should be used to keep the chicks from chilling because this is usually followed by diarrhea. Mr. Johnson recommends a teaspoon of soda to a pint of water as a remedy for leg weakness.

Mr. C. B. McClain was next called on to talk on the care and management of brood sows at farrowing time. Mr. McClain recommended that the brood sows should be farrowed in a pen a week or ten days before she is to farrow, and that the pen be cleaned and disinfected thoroughly and bedded with clean straw. The sow should be fed on laxative foods, such as bran and middlings. After farrowing nothing but warm water should be given the sow for the first twenty-four hours after which she may gradually gotten on to feed, starting with small amount of bran and not feeding any corn for several days after she has farrowed.

The attention should be very quiet in caring for the sow, so that she will not be nervous when he goes into her pen.

A talk on corn root rot was next given by R. A. Cave, who stated that in 1921 the State University extensively showed only fifteen to eighteen per cent of corn effected with corn root rot. While the tests this year showed forty to fifty per cent of the corn effected with corn root rot, corn root rot will show poor germination many times it is not so badly effected but what it will grow. If it does grow it will usually be stunted throughout the year and produce only minnows or no ears at all.

The means of control are early selection of seed from healthy stalks, care being used not to select ears with broken shank or from stalks which are leaning over or which have dried up prematurely.

Since it is too late to consider the selection of the seed for this year, the only means of eliminating the diseased ears is by the individual ear test. The modified rag doll method is recommended for testing and only those ears should be selected whose kernels produce strong sprouts and roots free from mould or discoloration.

The pooling of twine orders was taken up and of the twenty-five men present, twenty signed up for two thousand and twenty pounds of binder twine. Mr. Heist being present submitted prices on standard McCormick binder twine.

M. W. McCorky, President.
